

SCULPTOR DE LUCCA'S WIVES.

The Three Appear in the Lee Avenue Court to Get a Warrant.

He is Said to Be Locked Up Under Contract to Make a Statue.

Three Italian women were in the Lee Avenue Police Court, Williamsburg, today, looking for a warrant for the arrest of Michael Angelo De Lucca, a sculptor, who had been married to each of them. They were directed to the Virgin for an Italian lawyer.

The maiden names of the women were Contanza, Salento, Marie De Lucca and Rosa Bizzello. The two first are past thirty years of age, but Rosa is a bright girl of not over sixteen. All are living together now at 41 Havemeyer street.

From the story told by the women it seems that De Lucca met Contanza in Italy, where he was a sculptor, and they were married. So far as she knows she is his lawful wife.

Eight years ago the wife came to this country, where De Lucca did a carving business, making statues of saints for the churches.

De Lucca was residing on Second Street, and De Lucca became enraged at Father Pietro Supanara, who had been a friend of his, and he was married. So far as she knows she is his lawful wife.

WHILE MARCH WITH GROVER.

Brooklyn's Big Inauguration Day Contingent.

Democratic Organizations Started To-Day for Washington.

After all the Democratic delegations from Brooklyn had started to Washington to-day, there were scarcely enough of the faithful left in the city to carry a ward primary. Mayor Boody was kept busy from early morning, reviewing the marching columns, and hundreds of citizens, from every district between Newtown Creek and New York Bay, stood for hours in the drizzling snow and rain to cheer the proudest Democrats in America.

William A. Furey, the hustling Secretary of the Brooklyn delegation, was the first to marshal his forces, and long before 8 o'clock had formed a line on Court Square, where the Kings County Democratic Association, a large blue-ribbon banner was carried, and the march was made to the Kings County Democratic Association.

HENRI MOHR CUGHT IN CANADA.

He Ran Away from Brooklyn After Stealing $500.

Took Along James Drabinski for Company.

Police Supt. Campbell, of Brooklyn, received a dispatch today from the police of Toronto, Canada, notifying him of the arrest of Henry Mohr, who disappeared from Brooklyn Feb. 2, taking with him $500 belonging to his employers, John A. Schwartz & Co., furniture manufacturers, of 318 Broadway, Williamsburg.

A dispatch to "The Evening World" says that Mohr had a large amount of money in his possession. He was accompanied by a companion who gave the name of James Drabinski.

Drabinski is a cripple. He told the Toronto police that Mohr had induced him to leave Brooklyn by promising that he would be well cared for and would not have to work. They would go to Canada together and have good money.

Mohr, who was the firm's confidential clerk, is only twenty-seven years old and wears a small mustache. He is always neatly dressed and always appeared to have satisfactory feet in light and snappy dress.

They were indicted the following March, and Mr. Mohr gave bail in $100,000. He was released on March 10, and returned to his work.

On the afternoon of Feb. 2 he was given $500 to deposit in the Broadway Bank. He was seen leaving the bank at 10 o'clock, and then returned and finished his day's work. The following day he was arrested.

In the morning he was arrested at his home, and he was taken to the police station. He was released on March 10, and returned to his work.

SISTERS SET FREE.

The Five Indictments Against the Banker Dismissed.

He Has Satisfied the Claims of the Heckschers.

His Partner, Harold Clemens, Still Under Indictment.

After three years the indictments charging William H. M. Sistare, the head of the once great banking house of George K. Sistare & Sons, of 8 Broad Street, with grand larceny in misappropriating to the use of the firm the funds and property of the firm, and of Harold Heckscher, of Philadelphia, were dismissed by Judge Cowing as the final act of the February Term of Part I. of the Court of General Sessions.

After the failure of the Sistares in April, the Heckschers charged W. H. M. Sistare and Harold Clemens, of the firm, with using for their own profit a fictitious stock in the Lehigh Zinc and Iron Company, belonging to August Heckscher, and four parcels of second mortgage bonds of the Washington Railroad Company, valued at $300,000, $500,000 and $100,000 respectively, belonging to the same firm.

They were indicted the following March, and Mr. Sistare gave bail in $100,000. He was released on March 10, and returned to his work.

THE PRACTICE CRUISER BANCROFT ACCEPTED BEFORE COMPLETION.

This Is the Statement Made by Naval Attaches.

Negligence Either at the Coroners' Office or Police Station.

Naval attaches are talking freely of Secretary Tracy's official acts and the seeming haste he has shown in accepting the practice cruiser Bancroft and the battle-ship Indiana.

The Bancroft was put into commission today, and at 1 o'clock she left Elizabethport for the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Only a few of the officials knew she was to
